

LCLI UPDATE 2020-JUNE

🌀 In this Update ...

- 📁 How to Feed Crowds in a Protest or Panic: Sikhs Know (NPR)
- 📁 How 'Hotel Corona' United Palestinians & Israelis (NYTimes)
- 📖 Blindspot City: The Bus & Community Health (Stakeholder Health)
- 📁 Martin Luther King's Radical Anti-Capitalism (Paris Review)
- 📁 Yes to Life: Viktor Frankl's Lost Lectures (Brain Pickings)
- 📺 Cooling the Climate Mess: Walter Jehne (Cambridge Public Library)

Also: Our LCL/Positive Deviance Zoom #1 curated video!

LCLI Fellows have been forwarding things they feel others might find worthwhile, part of the rationale for the LCLI. This Update is given to that, with brief information and a link to each item.

How to Feed Crowds in a Protest or Panic: Sikhs Know

This isn't a soup kitchen or a food bank. It's a gurdwara, the place of worship for Sikhs ... An essential part of Sikhism is langar, the practice of preparing and serving a free meal to promote the Sikh tenet of seva, or selfless service. Anyone, Sikh or not, can visit a gurdwara and partake ....

CLICK HERE

How 'Hotel Corona' United Israelis & Palestinians

From NPR comes this intriguing report of how Palestinians and Israelis quarantined in the Dan Jerusalem Hotel found some connection .... hosted about 180 patients, all forced to live together until they were no longer infectious. They could only leave after they tested negative twice. They called it the "Hotel Corona."

CLICK HERE

Blindspot City: The Bus & Community Health

"In 2019 I quit my fancy job and took a job as a bus driver. .... as a protest against the blinders of privilege and as an outcry to raise awareness about the plight of my transit-dependent neighbors who struggle to make ends meet. I wanted to drive a bus to promote civility in public space while building social capital ... to become a public servant with a positive outlook, enhancing mobility in our community."

CLICK HERE

Martin Luther King's Radical Anti-Capitalism

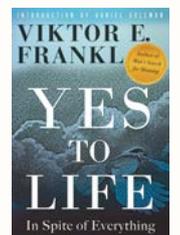

A week before his assassination, King said: "In a sense you could say we are engaged in the class struggle" .... that the movement to uproot poverty and inequality throughout the country would "be a long and difficult struggle, for our program calls for a redistribution of economic power."

CLICK HERE

'Yes to Life': Victor Frankl's Lost Lectures

Rediscovered, now published in English for the first time, Frankl begins by considering the question of whether life is worth living through the central fact of human dignity. ... he cautions against the defeatist "end-of-the-world" mindset ... but cautions equally against the "blithe optimism" of previous, more naïve eras.

CLICK HERE

Cooling the Climate Mess: Walter Jehne

Jehne explains how healthy soils act as a sponge for carbon and water - the "soil carbon sponge." When we manage soils to absorb water, biodiverse living systems thrive, photosynthesis pulls carbon out of the atmosphere, the biosphere cools, and regenerates a viable life-support system for millions of species including humans.

CLICK HERE

LCL/PD Video Zoom #1 UnConference

Professionally curated and abridged, worth seeing.

CLICK HERE

